Entelo provides the built-in analytics, reports, and dashboards you need to measure your success.

Recruiting is about so much more than just finding great candidates. You must also make important decisions about how to allocate your talent budget in the most efficient way possible. Entelo provides the comprehensive reports you need to accelerate your recruiting process and make informed decisions, every time.

Sourcing Activity Reports

Get a better picture of your talent pipeline and what it takes for your team to make a hire. Entelo sourcing reports capture total number of searches performed, profiles viewed, emails accessed, candidates contacted, candidates exported, and more.

Diversity Sourcing Reports

Gain visibility into your organization's diversity sourcing efforts and measure success. Get a complete breakdown of your candidate funnel by gender and ethnicity, and track the number of diversity searches you and your team are performing. Leverage these insights to optimize your strategy and achieve your diversity sourcing goals.

Candidate Engagement Reports

Drill down into the performance of your email outreach campaigns to better understand how your messages are resonating with your audience. Entelo Track engagement reports allow you to analyze open, click-through, reply and export rates across your organization. You can also A/B test and measure the success of various templates, links, subject lines, attachments, messages sent on behalf of your hiring managers, and more.

Team Performance Management

Understand the performance of each member of your team and share learnings from your top performers. See how many searches each recruiter on your team has performed, candidates they've identified, and responses they've received.
